St. Lo-Periers road to Camprond. (July 29th). Principle battle was Sainteny 9 - 11 July 1944 as part of Normandy Campaign. Opposed 17th SS Division. Part of July breakthrough.

b. St. Meloir des Ondes to St. Malo, 5th to 9th August 1944. Principal battle, St. Malo, France 7 - 9 August 1944. All units of regiment participated against assorted troops of enemy's forces: Marines, Sailors, Paratroops, AA troops, Coast Artillery, Field Artillery, and labor troops. Result: Reduced principal resistance at St. Malo. Part of Northern France Campaign.

c. Dinard Operation to include reduction of Fortress of St. Lunaire. Date: 10 - 16 August 1944. Operation was a mopping up of forces that had evacuated St. Malo before capture and had been pocketed in Dinard area. Principal engagement was that in which Fort at St. Lunaire fell before heavy artillery bombardment and subsequent occupation by our First Battalion and capture of 3300 prisoners. Part of Northern France Campaign. Enemy forces engaged again were a melange of German armed Forces.

d. Loire Defense Sector. Date: 21 August 1944 to 17 September 1944. Regiment occupied a defense sector from Blain, France, south to Nantes and from there patrolled to the East. No battles of note - all contact being characterized by patrol action. The entire regiment participated and the enemy troops were principally from occupied countries, Poles, Czechs, and Russians with a sprinkling of German sailors and marines with a few paratroopers. Result: Assisted in containing defensive force of St. Nazaire, France. Part of Northern France Campaign.

e. Luxembourg. Regiment moved to the defense of the Moselle River sector. Period: 25 September 1944 to 5 December 1944. During this period the mission of the regiment was to push German forces remaining in it's sector across the Moselle River. The following towns were cleaned out and occupied: Contz, Schengen, Remerschen, Schwebsingen, Klemmacher, Remich, Stadtbredimus, Grieveldange, and Wormeldange. Principal operations during this period was the reduction and occupation of Remich by the Second Battalion on 27 September and the occupation of Wormeldange on the 6th of October 1944. Results of all these operations was the securing of the West bank of the Moselle River within the Regimental sector. German units in contact with us were principally the 36th Pz Gr. Division and some elements of the 212th German Infantry Division. Part of the Germany Campaign.

f. Germany. Regiment moved to Germany in the area East of Aachen in the Hurtgen Forest. Dates: 7 December 1944 to 25 December 1944. Mission: to relieve 12th Infantry of the 4th Division, clean out German Forces in assigned zone of action and advance to the Roer River. During this period, the regiment participated in hard fighting to win the towns of Gey, Berzbuir, Kufferath, and Lendersdorff. Principal battle was for the town of Gey, an important road net center. All units of the regiment took part in this battle which lasted throughout the 11th, 12th, and 13th of December 1944. Result of the operation was a successful advance to the Roer and occupation of the West bank of the river.

On 24th-25th of December 1944, the Regiment was relieved and moved to

The following named personnel of this regiment were awarded the Silver Star Medal for distinguishing themselves by Gallantry in Action:

Technical Sergeant Pompelio E. Turcato, 33254212, Infantry, Regimental Headquarters Company, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 4 July 1944, near Carentan, France. Sergeant Turcato volunteered to undertake to complete the communication line between the regimental observation and command posts. With another enlisted man, he made his way back from the observation post, completing the communication. Throughout this action the area was being subjected to intense enemy shelling and small arms fire. Sergeant Turcato's conspicuous devotion to duty reflects great credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Pennsylvania.

Staff Sergeant Charles H. Richards (then Technician Fourth Grade) 33369948, Infantry, Service Company, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 4 July 1944, near Carentan, France. Staff Sergeant Richards, then serving as stenographer and guard to the regimental commander, volunteered to undertake to complete the communication line between the regimental observation and command posts. With another enlisted man, he made his way back from the observation post, approximately one-half mile, found the line and returned to the observation post, completing this communication. Throughout this action the area was being subjected to intense enemy shelling and small arms fire. Staff Sergeant Richards' conspicuous devotion to duty reflects great credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the service. Entered military service from Pennsylvania.

Second Lieutenant Jack T. Dempsey, O-527788, Infantry, Anti-Tank Company, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 5 July 1944, near Carentan, France. Second Lieutenant Dempsey was given the mission of preventing the enemy from blowing up a bridge. Through reconnaissance he discovered that the bridge was surrounded by enemy snipers. Disregarding his personal safety, he proceeded alone under heavy enemy small arms fire, crawling approximately 400 yards over open country and swamp land. Near the bridge he was seriously wounded in the face by an enemy hand grenade. Despite his wounds he directed effective rifle fire against the enemy and then safely returned to his lines, bringing valuable information. Second Lieutenant Dempsey's coolness under fire, his devotion to duty, and his disregard for personal safety reflect great credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Oklahoma.

Private First Class Charles W. Cambras, 31248040, Infantry, Anti-Tank Company 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 14 July 1944, near France. When enemy tanks were holding up the advance of the battalion, Private First Class Cambras volunteered as a member of an anti-tank team to undertake to knock them out. In order to enable the other members of the team to cross an open road unnoticed, Private First Class Cambras drew the enemy fire upon himself. By this heroic devotion to duty he contributed materially to the progress of the battalion. The conspicuous bravery and initiative of this enlisted man reflect the highest credit on himself and the finest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Connecticut.

Technician Fifth Grade Randall H. Ford, 35742932, Medical Detachment, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 10 July 1944, at  France. The medical section to which Technician Fifth Grade Ford was attached remained in * * * to assist in caring for the wounded of another battalion. In the course of the action an ambulance was knocked out, both drivers were wounded and further injury was inflicted on the casualties being transported. Disregarding the extremely heavy artillery fire, Technician Fifth Grade Ford, acting alone and on his own initiative made his way to the injured and evacuated them in his vehicle. This conspicuous act of humanity and courage was an inspiration to all about him. His heroic devotion to duty reflects great credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from West Virginia.

Technician Fifth Grade Roger S. Fournier, (then Private), 31340038, Medical Detachment, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 18 July 1944, near * * * Grance. Throughout the day, Technician Fifth Grade Fournier heroically continued to administer first aid to the wounded despite extremely heavy enemy fire. Under cover of darkness he half dragged, half carried a seriously wounded man across a swamp, swam with him across a ten foot canal and brought him to the aid station. After a short rest he insisted on going back across the swamp, notwithstanding that his company was cut off and there were pockets of enemy resistance in his path. He evaded the enemy on several trips across the route and each time returned with wounded men. Throughout these trips he was subjected to mortar fire and received two slight wounds. His conspicuous devotion to duty was an example of the highest order to the other litter bearers who were inspired to follow his lead. His heroic devotion to duty and disregard for personal safety are in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Vermont.

Second Lieutenant Phil H. Williams, O-538131, Cannon Company, 331st Infantry, United States Army. (Posthumous). For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action from 26 September 1944 to 27 September 1944 at * * *, Luxembourg. As a forward observer with Company I, 331st Infantry, Second Lieutenant Williams directed close and continuous artillery support for the attack of that company. With utter disregard for his safety he held the observation post under heavy enemy fire until forced to withdraw. Realizing the excellent strategic value of the observation post he led his men forward and drove the enemy from the position and continued to hold the post with his enlisted radio operator until he was killed by enemy fire. Second Lieutenant Williams' heroic performance of duty and personal aggressiveness reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from West Virginia.

Private John L. Pierce, 34874606, Headquarters Company First Battalion, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 11 August 1944, near * * * France. After leading the company through an enemy mine field in an attack against a well placed enemy defensive position, Private Pierce advanced alone in the face of heavy enemy artillery, mortar, and small arms fire and with the use of a bangalore torpedo, gapped a mine field and a double apron barb-wire fence. This enabled the riflemen to advance and take their objective. Private Pierce's heroic devotion to duty and conspicuous bravery reflect the highest credit on himself and the finest traditions of the armed service of the United States. Entered military service from Mississippi.

Technical Sergeant Kenneth R. Berquist, 37552925, Company A, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action near St. Lunaire, France, on 14 August 1944. When an enemy mortar position halted the advance of his company, Technical Sergeant Berquist, with complete disregard for his own safety, proceeded alone through open terrain to attack the enemy position. Despite being wounded by sniper fire he heroically continued his mission until he was close enough to knock the mortar and its crew out of action with hand grenades. Only after the company objective had been reached and after he had evacuated all of his wounded men did he admit the seriousness of his own wounds and submit to evacuation. Technical Sergeant Berquist's inspiring leadership and great personal courage reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from Minnesota.

Staff Sergeant Isadore M. Rider, 33692200, Company A, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action near St. Malo, France on 7 August 1944. When fire from an enemy mortar was threatening the advance of Staff Sergeant Rider's platoon, he unhesitatingly went forward despite excellent hostile observation and heavy mortar fire to which he was forced to expose himself. After crawling 450 yards to a point where he could observe the enemy action, with cool presence of mind he killed or wounded the enemy gunners with rifle fire and enabled his company to continue its advance. Staff Sergeant Rider's complete disregard for personal safety and his inspiring courage reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from Pennsylvania.

Staff Sergeant Roberto B. Robles, 38555182, Infantry, Company C, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action near Carentan, France, on 5 July 1944. Staff Sergeant Robles was a member of a patrol assigned to locate an enemy machine gun holding up the advance of his unit. As he attempted to close in on the position, several potato masher grenades were thrown at him. Displaying outstanding presence of mind Staff Sergeant Robles scooped up the grenades, threw them back into the emplacement and, utterly disregarding his own safety, fearlessly rushed the position, bayoneted the crew and demolished the gun. Staff Sergeant Robles' heroic and aggressive devotion to duty materially aided the advance of his company. The outstanding courage, coolness and valiant initiative of this non-commissioned officer reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from Texas.

Sergeant (then Private First Class) Joseph J. Tenuto, 33339118, Company C, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 5 July 1944, near Carentan, France. When the advance of his platoon was held up by fire from a strategically placed enemy machine gun, Sergeant Tenuto who had joined in the attack despite being previously wounded, unhesitatingly and with heroic determination crawled and worked his way to the flank of the enemy. With utter disregard for his own safety, he hurled two hand grenades into the position, knocked it out and captured two of the enemy. Sergeant Tenuto's fighting spirit and conspicuous courage reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from Pennsylvania.

Sergeant (then Private) James C. Bullington, 34376914, Infantry, Company B, 331st Infantry, United States Army. (Posthumous) For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action near Carentan, France, on 5 July 1944. Sergeant Bullington was serving as an ammunition bearer in a heavy machine gun squad when it became necessary to move a friendly rifle company to an adjacent hedgerow during a heavy enemy counter attack. Sergeant Bullington unhesitatingly volunteered to man single-handed a machine gun, while the company secured another position. Although the enemy came close enough to throw hand grenades at him he heroically held his position until the rifle company had time to organize. After expending his last round of ammunition he not only worked his own way successfully to the new position under heavy enemy small arms fire but safely pulled his machine gun with him. Sergeant Bullington's courageous performance of duty materially contributed to the success of the maneuver. The coolness under fire and inspiring devotion to duty of this non-commissioned officer reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from Tennessee. Residence: Route 2, Greenfield, Tennessee.

Second Lieutenant Alson E. Lancaster, O-13044916, Infantry, Headquarters Company, Second Battalion, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 8 July 1944, near * * * France. When his company was being subjected to heavy machine gun and artillery fire from an enemy tank firing directly from the center of their front, Second Lieutenant Lancaster immediately realizing the need for vigorous counter measures, personally led a squad into firing position despite being exposed to direct artillery and machine gun fire from the tank. Unmindful of his personal safety he remained with the gun crew supervising and directing the fire and reassuring and bolstering the courage of the men in the face of several casualties. During the operation Second Lieutenant Lancaster was severely wounded in the right leg by machine gun fire but he refused to be evacuated until the threat from the enemy tank had been disposed of. His coolness under fire, initiative, determination and fighting spirit reflect highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the armed service of the United States. Entered military service from Vermont.

Captain Lawrence Laliberte, O-1287019, Infantry, Headquarters, Second Battalion, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 4 July 1944, near * *, France. On a visit of inspection to another company of the battalion Captain Laliberte discovered that the commanding officer and the second in command had both become casualties from the heavy fire to which the company had been subjected. Without hesitation he assumed temporary command of the company and began its reorganization unmindful of direct and intense machine gun and small arms fire although it was necessary for him to crawl to numerous small groups and lead them to a point of rendezvous. Through his initiative, daring and sterling leadership he succeeded so well in his work of re-organization that the company met and repulsed with heavy losses a stubborn and determined counter-attack that otherwise might have engulfed it, and continued on its mission. Captain Laliberte's personal bravery and utter disregard for his own safety, his outstanding leadership and devotion to duty reflect the highest credit on himself and the finest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Massachusetts.

First Lieutenant James J. Glenn, O-1307151, Infantry, Headquarters, Second Battalion, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 7 July 1944, near * * *, France. During an attack by the battalion for which Lieutenant Glenn was a member, communication was severed by enemy artillery fire. Knowing the great importance of maintaining contact with the regimental command post, he set about the task of locating the breaks in the communication line. This work was performed under constant artillery, mortar, and machine gun fire and in the course thereof it was necessary for Lieutenant Glenn to expose himself in crossing several open fields. Before its completion he was severely wounded by a shell fragment, but with heroic devotion to duty above self, he continued with his work until communication with the regimental command post had been established. Lieutenant Glenn's grim determination, staunch courage, and high devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Tennessee.

Technician Fifth Grade Lonnie York, 35665658, Infantry, Company E, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 8 July 1944, near * * *, France. During the course of an attack by his company, against enemy infantry and tanks, the supply of rocket launcher ammunition for the front-line troops became badly depleted. Technician Fifth Grade York, headless of danger to himself, drove his ammunition truck far forward into the front line and, serving as ammunition bearer, coolly distributed the ammunition along the front line where it was sorely needed. During this time he was continuously exposed to hostile small arms, machine gun and tank fire. As a direct result of this aggressive action on the part of Technician Fifth Grade York, at least one enemy tank was destroyed, the way was cleared and his company was able to continue its advance. The grim determination, devotion to duty and utter disregard for personal safety of this enlisted man reflect great credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Illinois.

Captain Robert A. Mitchell, O-1304929, Infantry, Company F, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 7 August 1944, near * * *, France. In the course of an attack against a very heavily fortified enemy strongpoint, Captain Mitchell displayed outstanding courage and initiative in aggressively leading his men under terrific enemy fire. His fighting spirit and heroic personal bravery inspired his men to assault the position with such fierceness that the enemy was routed and the objective won. Captain Mitchell's conspicuous and valiant leadership reflects the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from Connecticut.

Private First Class John A. Patson, 42009987, Infantry, Company F, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action near St. Ideuc, France, on 11 August 1944. Private First Class Patson was assigned the task of destroying an enemy anti-aircraft gun emplacement which was a serious menace to his company's observation post. With an assistant he crawled 150 yards over flat terrain under intense mortar and machine gun fire to a position from which he could place direct fire on the target. With cool deliberation he secured twelve direct hits on the emplacement with his rocket launcher and enabled his patrol to move forward and occupy the position. When a counter-attack was begun, Private First Class Patson, although wounded by shrapnel, calmly stood up and hurled hand grenades at the oncoming enemy until the attack was disrupted. Private First Class Patson's conspicuous daring and inspiring devotion to duty reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from New Jersey.

Technical Sergeant Everett W. Singleton, 35000514, Infantry, Company G, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 12 July 1944, near * * *. France. When intense enemy fire was threatening to halt the advance of his platoon, Technical Sergeant Singleton, taking six men with him, maneuvered through the enemy lines and with the use of hand grenades knocked out two machine gun emplacements. His action succeeded in completely putting the enemy to rout and enabling the attack to continue. The outstanding courage, initiative, and devotion to duty of this non-commissioned officer reflect the highest credit on himself and the finest traditions of the armed service of the United States. Entered military service from Ohio.

Technical Sergeant Leroy A. Titus, 35399874, Infantry, Company G, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 12 July 1944, near * * *, France. During an enemy counter-attack by infantry and tanks, Technical Sergeant Titus observed that one of the machine guns had been put out of action. With outstanding presence of mind he picked up the gun, secured another vantage point and operated it with such telling effect that the attack stalled and the enemy withdrew. In the absence of his wounded platoon leader, Technical Sergeant Titus quickly reorganized the platoon and with utter disregard for his own safety led the men forward, pressing the attack with such determination that heavy losses were inflicted upon the enemy and the platoon objective was attained. Technical Sergeant Titus' inspiring leadership and courageous devotion to duty reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from Ohio.

Sergeant Paul G. Lancaster, 33215199, Infantry, Company H, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 9 July 1944 at * *, France. Sergeant Lancaster led his squad forward to blow holes in hedgerows with satchel and pole charges. Disregarding heavy enemy fire he repeatedly exposed himself in order to accomplish the hazardous task. The successful completion of the mission enabled tanks to maneuver into firing position and resulted in the ultimate advance of the battalion. Sergeant Lancaster's heroic courage and outstanding leadership reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service. Entered military service from Virginia.

Staff Sergeant Alvar G. Garza, 18048101, Infantry, Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 19 July 1944, at the * * *, France. During a furious enemy counter-attack, Staff Sergeant Garza, as anti-tank gunner, stayed by his gun and succeeded in demolishing an enemy tank although the battalion had temporarily withdraw. The courage, coolness and heroic devotion to duty displayed by this non-commissioned officer reflect the highest credit on himself and the finest traditions of the armed services of the United States. Entered military service from Texas.

Captain Marion B. Cooper, O-12977844, Infantry, Company I, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 15 July 1944, near * * *, France. When his company, advancing through a heavily wooded area, was pinned down by fire from an enemy tank, Captain Cooper secured an anti-tank rocket launcher and utterly without regard for his own personal safety, crawled through bitter machine gun and artillery fire until he was within range of the tank. He then assumed a kneeling position and with two well placed shots succeeded in crippling the tank thereby enabling anti-tank fire to be brought upon it. By his heroic action the successful attainment of the objective was assured. Captain Cooper's coolness, courage, and disregard for personal safety reflect the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Indiana.

Private Willie V. Bobo, 34307826, Infantry, Company I, 331st Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 13 July 1944, near * * *, France. When his company was subjected to intense machine gun fire from an enemy tank placed in the line of its advance, Private Bobo, completely disregarding his own safety, took an anti-tank rocket launcher and an extra round of ammunition and advance toward the tank along a hedgerow which was being regularly sprayed with machine gun fire and artillery bursts. Reaching an effective range he stood up in direct view of the tanks and fired.

FRANK E. DOUGLAS, O-1296500, First Lieutenant, Infantry, th Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 8 August 1944, at , France. An enemy machine gun position in a building succeeded in cutting the supply line to forward troops and prevented the evacuation of the wounded. Completely disregarding his own safety, Lieutenant Douglas took an automatic rifle and ran from doorway to doorway, firing at every opportunity until he reached a place close enough to throw a hand grenade into the enemy position and completely neutralize it. His heroic action opened the supply line and made possible the prompt evacuation of the wounded. The conspicuous courage and devotion to duty of this officer reflect the highest credit on himself and finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered the military service from Massachusetts.

First Lieutenant Clarence O. Pratt, O-342954, Infantry, Company , * Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action During the period 7 August 1944 to 12 August 1944, in , France. Lieutenant Pratt displayed outstanding devotion to duty and conspicuous bravery in leading his company in the attack against the city of . The entire action was carried out under extremely heavy enemy small arms and artillery fire. Although severely wounded he carefully directed the advance of his men and materially assisted the advance of the entire battalion. His heroic devotion to duty reflects great credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service. Entered military service from New York.

First Lieutenant Alexander N. Kahapea, O-1300497,  Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 14 July 1944, near *, France. When the advance of the battalion was being threatened by two enemy tanks, Lieutenant Kahapea with daring initiative organized two anti-tank rocket launcher squads approached to within short range of the tanks and damaged both of them with well directed fire. They were compelled to withdraw and the advance was continued. Lieutenant Kahapea's coolness under fire, his outstanding courage and dauntless determination reflect the highest credit on himself and the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Hawaii.

ARTHUR K. UNGREN, O-297357, First Lieutenant, Infantry, Company , * Infantry, United States Army. For distinguishing himself by gallantry in action on 10 August 1944, near St. Malo, France. Two large bunkers protected by a concrete wall seven feet high and three feet thick were threatening to hold up the battalion advance. Lieutenant Ungren led his platoon in an assault against the bunkers but the hole in the wall was too small to insure success and he withdrew to personally direct a tank destroyed gun into position and blow a hole in the wall. Then completely disregarding intense enemy fire he led his men through the gap. His outstanding initiative and cool daring effected the surrender of over 180 enlisted men and four high ranking officers. Lieutenant Ungren's conspicuous leadership and personal courage reflects the highest credit upon himself and the finest traditions of the military service of the United States. Entered military service from Michigan.

Private First Class Arlie Fields, 35439543, Infantry, Company ,  Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 5 July 1944, near , France. Under a furious enemy counter-attack Private First Class Fields and two other men remained alone to defend a sunken road which was the main line of resistance. With conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty they held the road with rifle and carbine, completely disregarding their personal safety although they were only 100 yards from the enemy, knew that both flanks were open for the placing of enfilade enemy machine gun fire and that no support was available. Their heroic stand continued for approximately thirty minutes despite vicious enemy fire until a squad could be brought to their support. Private First Class Fields' outstanding demonstration of courageous determination is in keeping with the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Kentucky.

Private Alfred D. Doolittle, 32954931, Infantry, Company , * Infantry United States Army. For gallantry in action on 5 July 1944, near , France.
