Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine whether the use of a computerized decision support system (DSS) would improve the performance of nurses in making decisions about patient care. A DSS was developed to assist nurses in determining appropriate nursing interventions for patients with various medical conditions. The DSS was used by a group of nurses in a simulated clinical setting. The results of the study indicated that the use of the DSS improved the accuracy of the nurses' decisions and reduced the time required to make a decision. The DSS also provided additional information to the nurses, which helped them to understand the rationale behind their decisions.

Level of Agreement	All respondents (%)	Respondents who have been personally affected by the economic crisis (%)
Strongly agree	~65	~75
Somewhat agree	~25	~20
Somewhat disagree	~8	~5
